

Boy Scout Week The World Over

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED POWERS EUROPE (SHAPE) 12 February — Inaugural ceremonies of the Boy Scout Week in France were held at SHAPE, Paris, Monday (8 February) when the Scouts' Trans-Atlantic Council presented the Golden Book of Scouting to General Leon W. Johnson, Air Deputy to the Supreme Allied Commander, General Lauris Norstad. This ceremony coincided with similar ones throughout the world, as top leaders received books from American Boy Scouts.

gift for his chief, who was unable to be present. The book, depicting the history of the American Boy Scout program since its importation from England in 1910, was handed to General Johnson by Eagle Scout James C. Cross, Jr. (son of Colonel and Mrs. James C. Cross, SHAPE; grandson of Mrs. Ralph Routon, 120 N. Pine Street, Hope, Ark.) of the SHAPE International Troop 125. In accepting the book, General Johnson congratulated the Scouts on past progress, particularly in the field of youth guidance, and anticipated an even more rewarding future for the program.

89 Persons Killed in Two Airliner Crashes

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sudden collision of planes in fog high over Rio de Janeiro's lovely bay has wiped out a select group of the most talented musicians in the world-famous Navy Band.

The news that 19 Navy musicians were among the more than 60 persons killed in Thursday's tragedy shocked and saddened those they left behind at home. Many lived in southeast Washington or in Virginia and Maryland not far from the old Navy Yard, where the band had its headquarters in an old, unused sail loft.

Many of the victims had been with the band for 20 years or more. They were selected for the Rio trip because of their double talents in both martial band music and intricate orchestral classics.

Just before musician I.C. Vincent P. Tramontana, 29, left on the South American tour, his wife Beatrice was called to New York where her mother had suffered a stroke. Then their 4-year-old son had an asthmatic attack and had to have an emergency operation to place a breathing tube in his throat.

Tramontana's mother has a heart condition. Relatives didn't know whether they should tell her of her son's death. Tramontana, of Hyattsville, Md., was a violinist and joined the Navy Band 10 years ago after studying at New York's Juilliard School of Music.

Wives of several of the men said their husbands disliked flying. "But he didn't make an issue of it," said distraught Marjorie Albrecht, wife of musician 2.C. William F. Albrecht.

Chief Musician Jerome Rosen had been planning to retire within a year. Between hitches in the Navy, he had been a violinist with the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington and the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra. His wife, Frances, and two teen-aged children live here.

J. Johann F. Pultz had headed the unit that flew to Rio for a rendezvous with death. He had been assistant leader of the entire Navy Band since 1956 and had distinguished himself as soloist, conductor and composer in a Navy Band career that spanned 25 years.

The Navy Band, an outgrowth of a hundred years of enthusiastic amateur performers on American warships, was organized in 1924. Now made up of 128 men, it has played in a thousand cities here and abroad.

Louisianians Boom Faubus for President

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—A Faubus-for-President rally was held here last night. A seven-man organizational committee was named to form the core of the group which will seek the nomination of Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus as Democratic candidate for president.

The committee, includes George Shannon, editor of the Shreveport Journal. R. B. Hamilton was selected as temporary chairman of the group.

Hamilton, an engineer for Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., said the rally's purpose was to sound out interest in the Shreveport area in organizing Faubus-for-President clubs.

He said the organizational committee will lay plans for activities to spread the movement.

Tom C. Igoe of Ruston, La., principal speaker at the rally, called Faubus "the old knight and unconquerable soldier that kept at bay the hounds of destiny."

"He 'Faubus' stood almost alone during the Little Rock crisis," Igoe said, adding that Faubus was the only man who could lead the South in its fight to regain its rights.

About 325 persons attended the rally.

Texas Blast Leaves One Man Dead

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A 10,000-gallon petroleum storage tank exploded and burned at Port Brownville today, critically burning two men.

The fire-explosion was on a tank farm about five miles from Brownsville.

Hospitalized with critical burns, officers reported, were John B. Conway and Clemente Lopez, both of Brownsville.

Fire shot 200 feet from the tank, witnesses said.

The explosion occurred on the tank farm of Western Natural Gas Corp. The tank which exploded contained about two feet of a gas distillate.

The sharpest drop was at Little Rock, 20 per cent.

St. Louis was down five per cent. Louisville dropped nine per cent. Memphis declined six per cent. and sales in seven smaller district cities were down eight per cent.

Sales for the four weeks ended Feb. 20 were down one per cent from the corresponding period a year ago. Sales for the year to date were down three per cent as compared to 1959.

President Tells Argentina of Internal Threat

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Eisenhower said today freedom-loving nations "can command a power so great that no potential aggressor could violate the peace without inviting his own destruction."

Addressing Argentina's Congress a few hours after arriving here for a weekend visit, Eisenhower spoke of "the ugly external threat which faces us"—an obvious allusion to communism. But he said here is a way the threat can be overcome.

The way, Eisenhower said, is a maximum international exchange of ideas, persons and techniques. That is "the surest foundation for the kind of cooperative progress we seek," the President declared.

As for Argentina's role, Eisenhower said:

"I am happy to assure you of the continued readiness of my government to cooperate with you to the extent that such cooperation is feasible, is welcomed, and may contribute to the well-being of your great country."

Quite likely with the regime of former dictator Juan D. Peron in mind, Eisenhower told the Argentine legislators the people of the United States "are mindful of the extraordinary efforts you are making to restore your national economy."

"We hope and expect that the solid economic foundations you have been building will soon result in improved living standards," he said.

By STANFORD BRADSHAW

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Eisenhower launched a weekend visit to Argentina today with an expression of satisfaction that "our commitments and common aspirations provide one stone in the structure of peace."

The President's orange and silver jet, bringing him from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, touched down at Ezeiza International Airport at 8:40 a. m. EST.

He is here for a weekend visit, with more emphasis on diplomatic than on military matters.

The "Little Monsters," Beansie, Joanie, Pepper, Susy and Donna, will be acted by Linda Thrash, Jo Carolyn Lewis, Leland Pant, Juanita Messer and Mary Alice Moseley. Mr. Cole, a civic official, will be played by Ronnie Formby.

A wealthy woman, Mrs. Frisley, will be played by Tanna Taylor. Buddy Putman will be Miller, the Policeman; Larry Dean Browning will be Kennedy, the Fire Chief; Carol McKee will be Joe, the taxi driver; and Pam Aslin will be Mary Marple, the radio announcer.

That parking meter man really pulled a sly one yesterday... Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning drivers tried in vain to put money in the meters but they were frozen... came after noon and the thaw and wouldn't you know that meter man was right there with the tickets... wouldn't be surprised if the city didn't make money on the freeze... incidentally the city had a bunch of new ones installed on South Main and they probably are the non-freezing kind.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

Perhaps this person wasn't so honest a few years ago but you can't deny that he is now... Mr. Pomeroy Whitten, Hope, Ark., received the following letter, which contained a $20 bill... "Mr. Whitten a few years ago you dropped a $20 bill and I picked it up and used it for my own use. God has told me many times this was wrong. So I send it back to you and hope you find it in your heart to forgive me. I know God will forgive me. And I am doing what God would have me do. So until we meet in heaven above, you won't know who I am. But you will know them with a love to you, a Christian."

The letter was received last Wednesday and it was his birthday.

Gas Co-op Dispute Before Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A dispute over a permit for a new co-operative to supply liquefied petroleum gas to 4,000 members in Crawford County has reached Pulaski Circuit Court.

The state Liquefied Petroleum Board Tuesday granted the permit by a 4 to 3 vote of its seven members.

Yesterday S. W. Kirkpatrick of Fort Smith and Bob Remy of Booneville, private distributor of the gas, appealed granting of the permit.

Thomas Harper, Fort Smith attorney, asked on behalf of the two that the board be required to file its records of the case for review.

PSC Tells Bell to Keep Rates Just the Same

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Public Service Commission decided today the Arkansas rates of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. can stay as they are.

This was the climax of a long wrangle over the issue of cutting the rate by three million dollars a year.

Last April, the PSC ordered Bell to show cause why its rates should not be lowered.

Chairman Lewis Robinson of the commission said that apparently Bell's earnings in this state amounted to that much above the customary return of six per cent.

Bell fought the proposal for a rate cut. The company denied it earned more than the traditional rate of return on its Arkansas investment and countered with a request for a $425,000 increase in fringe rates.

In today's decision, the PSC rejected the request for an increase.

Urges Speed in Sales of Surpluses

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—Expressing concern over the staggering cost of storing government-owned surplus commodities, the House Appropriations Committee today urged a speed-up in sales of the surpluses.

It made the request in a report sending to the House floor for debate next week a bill providing $229,195,864 in supplemental funds for a score on government agencies for the current fiscal year.

By selling its surplus commodities at competitive prices, the committee said, the Commodity Credit Corp. could provide additional capital and reduce its warehouse costs. The group estimated that for 1960 the cost of warehousing, transportation and interest would be $1,262,000,000.

The CCC had requested 675 million dollars additional to provide it with a greater margin of working capital between now and June 30. The committee rejected the request, pointing out that there is a 441-million-dollar margin forecast which is not expected to be used before that date.

Rejection of that item accounted for most of the $789,202,400 cut out of the omnibus bill.

Continuous Meet of Senate Move Against Southern Filibuster

Agri Department Opposes All Moves to Regulate Poultry Production and Marketing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has renewed its opposition to proposed legislation to regulate production and marketing in the poultry industry.

Instead, said Herman I. Miller, director of the Poultry Division, the department favors having the industry itself make adjustments to bring production in line with consumer demand.

Miller yesterday outlined the department's position before a Senate subcommittee on agricultural production, marketing and stabilization of prices.

"The evidence clearly indicates that the industry is making adjustments to the 'new economic era' in which it finds itself and will continue to make the adjustments which are necessary if left to its own devices," said Miller.

This position was opposed, however, by Rep. Clement Miller (D-Calif.) who urged enactment of the legislation before the committee.

Leaving the industry to "natural market forces" only will tend to drive more people out of business and create a monopoly, Rep. Miller said.

He asserted that monopoly prices would make present farm subsidies "look like peanuts."

In other testimony, J. M. Tankersley, president of the Southeastern Poultry and Egg Assn., Gainesville, Ga., said a government control program would destroy "the very thing that has made the poultry industry become the most dynamic and the rapid advancing phase of modern agriculture."

"From the evidence, the committee can only conclude that this commission was formed merely for purposes of deception—to conceal from the committee, the courts and the public generally Hoffa's dependence on and obligations to these (racketeer) elements," the report said.

Hoffa named former Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) to head the three-man commission. Bender since has resigned from the post.

After promising to clear up the union, the report said, Hoffa assigned Harold Gross to head Teamsters Local 320 in Miami, then put up $3,000 a month of Teamster funds to subsidize what it called "this racket local."

It said Gross was a convicted labor extortionist known as a fix-it when Hoffa assigned him to further evidence to back its accusation.

The committee in prior reports had accused Hoffa of corrupt deals and alliances with big-shot gangsters.

Its latest findings about him, were in the first installment of a catch-all final report to the Senate on a variety of investigations held in 1958 and 1959. Other installments will be filed later. The committee's authority expires March 31.

Few Strategists From South Go Against Motion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today backed the idea of round-the-clock sessions beginning Monday, asked by leaders in an effort to break a Southern filibuster against civil rights legislation.

A vote of 67-10 defeated a motion that the Senate quit work Monday at 5 p. m. EST.

In indirect fashion, this was support for the leadership's announced plans to keep the Senate in continuous session.

Many Southern senators, including their chief strategist, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), voted against the motion. They did not explain their votes at once, but the effect was to detract from the roll call as a test of strength on the civil rights issue itself.

In order to set up a test on the issue of round-the-clock sessions, Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas moved to set the 5 p. m. EST deadline for the Senate to end its Monday session.

He announced he would oppose his own motion and that he was offering it only as a test of the members' desires on the round-the-clock issue.

Although some of the Southern senators finally voted against the motion, there were new prospects from their side that a marathon schedule keeping the Senate in continuous session, perhaps for days, would imperil members' health.

Southerners have denounced it before as legislative torture.

Johnson's move came after Southerners had adopted a new tactic — delaying appropriations hearings—in their battle against civil rights bills.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators on opposing sides said today about a week of round-the-clock sessions may indicate how the tide is running in the battle over civil rights measures.

Nonstop sessions are planned by Senate leaders beginning Monday, the start of the third week of debate, in an effort to break Southern resistance and force action on the legislation.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) said that "if this fails to bring the matter to a head" in a week or 10 days, the Senate should attempt to put its closure (debate-limiting) rule into effect.

Under this rule each senator's speaking time is limited to one hour, but to put into effect takes a two-thirds majority of all senators voting.

In a separate interview, earlier, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said he doubts if civil rights proponents ever can force a vote on the legislation without invoking closure.

Russell, leader of the Southern forces, said, however, that he was not willing to concede that a two-thirds majority could be obtained to choke off debate.

"We'll find out after the Senate has been in session for 80 or 90 hours consecutively what course this legislation will take," he said.

Sun Taking Care of Snow in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Much of the snow which plagued Arkansas in a late blast of winter was gone today, but the Weather Bureau predicted a new round of snow for the entire state.

Continued cold is in the outlook through the weekend.

Fairer skies and brisk wind was expected to clear away all but scattered vestiges of the snow dumped on Arkansas in the storm which hit Wednesday.

State Police headquarters at Little Rock said all roads in Arkansas were reported open today. However, some roads still were slick — particularly in the Harrison area.

The weatherman said the new storm is due to strike west Arkansas tonight and spread across the rest of the state tomorrow. Light to heavy snowfalls are expected.

Lows ranging from the mid teens to around 30 are in the off-stallments will be filed later. The forecast tonight, today's highs are not likely to get out of the 40s.

Fayetteville had a low reading of 9 degrees early today. Other lows varied from 14 at Fort Smith to 26 at Little Rock.

Snow Danger Not Until Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The U.S. Weather Bureau today revised an earlier forecast and said Arkansas wasn't in danger of more snow before Sunday.

For Sunday the forecast is for rain or snow for all sections.

In its original forecast the Bureau said heavy late-winter snow Wednesday, could expect more of the same tonight and tomorrow.

Indications at that time were that a new storm would strike west Arkansas tonight and spread across the rest of the state tomorrow.

The sun shone brightly again today, and most traces of the Wednesday storm had vanished.

All highways were open but some were still hazardous.

The weather will continue cold with minimums as low as 10 degrees expected in the northwest.

Scooter Rider Killed

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A 15-year-old motor-scooter rider was fatally injured yesterday when his machine skidded on ice and threw him into a culvert.

Danny Garrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Garrett, was dead on arrival at a hospital.

The partial radio failure left the timing uncertain.

Senate Group Declares Hoffa 'Contemptuous'

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee today pictured Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa as displaying a "contemptuous attitude toward the U. S. Senate and all law and order."

It pinned the charge in part to Hoffa's creation of a purported anti-racketeering commission with the announced purpose of driving corruption from the union.

"From the evidence, the committee can only conclude that this commission was formed merely for purposes of deception—to conceal from the committee, the courts and the public generally Hoffa's dependence on and obligations to these (racketeer) elements," the report said.

Manual on Church to Be Reissued

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Committee on Un-American Activities said today a controversial Air Force manual linking churches and Communists will be reissued without naming church groups or individuals.

Walter said after a closed session with Air Force Secretary Dudley C. Sharp that Sharp did not dispute the facts contained in the security training manual.

Sharp left the hearing room by another door and was not immediately available for comment.

Walter called Sharp before the committee to explain the withdrawal of the manual and his apology to Protestant church groups it linked with Communist infiltration. Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. also apologized.

He said Sharp had explained the apology was made at the request of the National Council of Churches, Inc., an organization of Protestant churches named in the pamphlet.

"The secretary said he had no reason to believe any of the statements in the manual were untrue," Walter said, "but he thought the Air Force should follow a policy of not naming names, and the manual will be reissued
on that basis."

Walter said he was satisfied with Sharp's explanation and would not make any further inquiry into withdrawal of the manual.

"I feel the Air Force was overly cautious in reacting the way it did," he said, "but if that is the way they feel about it, it is no concern of ours."

Walter, in a statement released before the hearing began, said his committee has found definite evidence that Communists have infiltrated church groups.

"It is a fact," he said, "that the Communists have duped a large number of the clergy as well as lay leaders of the churches into supporting Communist fronts and causes which masquerade behind deceitful facades of humanitarianism."

Hit-Run Driver Sought in Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives made a house-to-house search today seeking to identify the hit-run (taxicab) driver who killed a 4-year-old girl and hid her body under a parked car where it looked like a rag doll to passers-by.

The cab hit the Negro girl in Harlem Wednesday afternoon. A crowd quickly gathered. The cab driver, also a Negro, picked up the girl in his arms and told the crowd that he was taking her to a hospital. He drove away with her.

Two hours later—a half mile away in Washington Heights—a number of strollers noticed what they thought was a rag doll under a parked car. One of them reached under the car and discovered the "doll" was the body of a little girl, identified later as Robin Joyner.

Alford Told Not to Ask Second Term

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—John F.
Wells of Little Rock said today
he had notified Rep. Dale Alford that he would challenge any attempt by the congressman to seek another term as Democrat.

Wells said in a letter to Alford that the latter had violated rules of the Democratic Party by the write-in campaign which Alford used to unseat then Rep. Brooks Hays, the Democratic nominee, in the 1958 general election.

Alford has indicated, but hasn't definitely said, that he will file for the Democratic nomination this year.

His right to be seated as a Democrat was challenged when he went to Washington early last year, but he was accepted as a party member.

Both a federal grand jury and a House subcommittee investigated the Hays-Alford race. Both groups gave the winner a clean bill of health.

Wells asked in his letter, dated
Feb. 12, that Alford let his intentions be known.

Wells said that if Alford, a Little Rock eye doctor, disclaimed any intention of seeking the Democratic nomination he, Wells, would have no more to say on the matter.

At Washington an aide of Alford released this statement on behalf of the congressman:

"In recent weeks we have been overwhelmed by letters relative to matters of vital concern to the Fifth Congressional District."
"These letters pertaining to congressional business as well as Mr.
Wells' letter will be answered in due course of time."

Wells, head of a printing company and formerly publisher of a weekly newspaper, was a prime mover in the investigations which followed the 1958 election.

K Pledges Soviet Aid to Indonesia

DENPASAR, Bali (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today pledged the Soviet Union's support to Indonesia's struggle to gain control of Dutch West New Guinea.

"The Soviet people consider it a just and legal demand," the Soviet leader told a cheering crowd of 10,000 in downtown Denpasar, capital of the Isle of Bali.

Seated atop a bamboo platform, Khrushchev and President Sukarno watched an hour-long procession of Hindu rites representing birth to marriage.

The Soviet Premier, wearing a pith helmet to shield his bald head from the hot sun, seemed to enjoy the entertainment. Later, in a speech of thanks, he attacked imperialism and colonialism and warned the Indonesians they will have to keep on defending the freedom that they won from the Dutch.

Invocation. Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, president, presided over the business session. There were 16 members present.

DOROTHY DIX

Friends Are Those Who Believe You

Dear Dorothy Dix:
There's a boy that goes to our school. He has told my boy friends I was not nice. I tried to tell them it's not true but he tells them different. I have lost all of them and some of my girl friends.

What should I do—Lonesome
Dear Lonesome: If your "friends" believe this character, they aren't your friends. Accept this. Seek quality—and that goes for yourself as well as your friends. How about looking up some group at your church? If your parents don't belong to any particular faith, visit the different churches in your neighborhood and choose the one you like best. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet on "Being Popular."

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I am deeply in love with my wife of five years and I am sure she loves me. But she continues to correspond with men she knew before we were married. She says they are just old friends. I am sure she is faithful to me; in fact, all of the men live at a great distance and most of them are out of the country. Am I needlessly jealous?—Joe

Dear Joe: I am afraid your wife is in love with romance. The fact that all these men are at a distance proves that. She is playing a game, and making sure she won't get burned doing it. In living out daydreams, she discloses a hunger for attention. You might try being more romantic yourself, paying her greater attention, taking her on trips, bringing surprise gifts.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I have gone with the same man four years. We have loved one another, shared our troubles and stood side by side through thick and thin. I said he would have to make up his mind—it was breaking my heart to go on this way. He wasn't ready to get married; he wanted to be free to go out with pretty girls. He has come back four times in two months and each time has left saying, what made me come back to you? How much can a woman take? Should I take him in once more or tell him never to cross my path again?—E. H.

Dear E. H.: Long drawn-out romances rarely lead to the altar. You've been too accessible. Write him off.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper.

Robbery Charged to 4 Arkansans

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Four Northeast Arkansas men were charged yesterday with the $1,200 robbery of a supermarket here Jan. 21.

Information filed in Pulaski Circuit Court named J. T. Tribble, 23; Loyd L. James, 22, and John Junior James, 29, all of Walnut Ridge, and C. L. Erwin, 20, of Hoxie.

Tribble and Erwin were held in jail here in lieu of $5,000 bond. Prosecutor J. Frank Holt said Loyd James was held at Jonesboro and John James was being sought.

Red Chinese Fire Heavy Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China is firing its heaviest propaganda guns at President Eisenhower in an all-out effort to discredit his present Latin American tour.

The violence of the outburst has started even some U. S. officials, long accustomed to a steady drizzle from Peking on any and all American policies.

Snapshots from recently intercepted Peking broadcasts now reaching a crescendo in the hate-American campaign run like this: "U. S. President Eisenhower is forced to make a personal trip (to Latin America) to carry out con- veying and deceptive activities. Latin America, which the United States has always considered its backyard, has become the very front lines opposing U. S. imperialism."

U. S. officials see three major aims by Peking in its Latin American offensive:

1. To disrupt the solidarity of the Western Hemisphere by every possible means.

2. To break the solid Latin American line-up in the United Nations and gain support among these largely Roman Catholic countries for admission of Peking to the U. N.

3. To build up Latin American differences with the United States and thereby increase Peking's chances for diplomatic recognition among the hemisphere nations.

Few Confused After Hearing Mr. Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Senate Democrats say they are still confused after hearing new testimony by Allen W. Dulles on relative U. S.-Soviet missile strength.

Republicans say there's nothing to be confused about.

Dulles, director of the central Intelligence Agency, spent another five hours Wednesday testifying behind closed doors to the Senate Space and Preparedness committees.

When he appeared before the groups earlier this year, he presented what some Democrats interpreted a less optimistic view than that of some military men on the American position in the missile race. Some of the subcommittee Democrats promptly said the Dulles testimony left them confused.

The chairman of the two groups, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), said after Wednesday's session that Dulles presented some new material that may prove helpful to committee members after study.

"But I could not say the confusion has been clarified," Johnson added. "It is amazing how difficult it is to get a simple statement of facts."

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Auditor J. Red Jones has filed for the Democratic nomination to a third term.

Jones first was elected in 1946 after serving as land commissioner by appointment.

A Magnolia native and an alumnus of Southern State College, Jones also served three terms as Columbia County collector.

"CORVAIR HANDLES BETTER, STEERS MORE EASILY, RESPONDS MUCH MORE QUICKLY AND HOLDS THE ROAD MORE SECURELY THAN ANY STOCK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN EVER MADE IN THE U.S."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

"Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation."

—Karl Ludvigsen, Sports Cars Illustrated

"Steers like a feather and is extremely quick. . . This is a beautifully designed automobile, engineered by real pros."

—Tom McCahill, Mechanix Illustrated

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristics was the feeling of roominess inside. . . I didn't have the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greater in the Corvair than in some standard size cars."

—L. H. Houck, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's small and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked . . . it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries than it is into a rear one."

—Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"I want to state as firmly as I can that the Corvair handles as beautifully and is as safe as—if not safer than—any family car on the road today."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

"There is none of the typical whine normally associated with rear-engined vehicles. Inside the car, the effect is quite unlike anything we have ever experienced. It almost seems that there is no engine, and the general effect is so quiet as to be almost uncanny."

—John R. Hond, Road & Track

"No written word can suffice for the genuine pleasure that you will receive behind the wheel of America's newest and most advanced contribution to transportation. . . It is a great car."

Attorney Says Carole Is Innocent

By DIAL TORGERSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carole Tregoff's attorney has painted a hypothetical picture suggesting her surgeon lover could be guilty of murdering his wife but that Carole is innocent.

Some observers saw the lawyer's imaginary anecdote for the jury Wednesday—in which he did not mention Dr. R. R. Bernard Finch by name—as a last-ditch effort to save Carole even at the doctor's expense.

But defense lawyers insisted there was no break in their ranks. The defense took over final arguments after a prosecutor declared the lovers hoped to solve their financial and romantic problems with "one shot in the back" of Mrs. Finch.

The 42-year-old society surgeon and his 27-year-old mistress are charged with murdering his wife, Barbara Jean, 36, outside the Finch estate in suburban West Covina last July 18.

Carole's counsel, Robert A. Las Vegas to West Covina ... Carole, who resumes his summer home today, began by citing a hypothetical example that paralleled circumstances of the slaying:

"Supposing that I — somebody — perhaps I knew — had a tenant in a store and he wanted me to take him there and I agree. And, supposing I furnish the automobile. Let us suppose I furnish the gasoline. Maybe I took him to dinner.

"Maybe I lent him some money. And I drove him to the scene of the place, and when I did, I knew that he was mad at his tenant, and they were having trouble. And he told me he was going to have it out with the tenant."

"And supposing he had a paper bag with him somewhere in his hypodermics, sleep-inducing drugs and he said, 'Now, here we are. Let's go in. I'm going to have preparing for use on emergency trouble with this fellow.' And he calls.

THE STORY: Phil Bokker has received many warnings to leave Raytown, Mo., and the climax comes when a man named Charr Mechem goes him into a fight.

Chapter 5

Bokker hit the big man in the stomach with everything he had and, as Mechem folded forward, says, 'Bring the paper bag in, and I bring it in, and he gets into an argument — he gets into an argument, and maybe it turns out there is a weapon in the bag, and the tenant gets shot.

"Am I guilty of murder? No, I am not, because I didn't have a knowledge of, intentional participation in the event which was unlawful."

"You have to answer this question in this case, as far as Carole Tregoff is concerned."

"Unless you believe ... that when the car was moving from Carole's house to West Covina ... Carole, who resumes his summer home today, began by citing a hypothetical example that paralleled circumstances of the slaying:

"Supposing that I — somebody — perhaps I knew — had a tenant in a store and he wanted me to take him there and I agree. And, supposing I furnish the automobile. Let us suppose I furnish the gasoline. Maybe I took him to dinner.

"Maybe I lent him some money. And I drove him to the scene of the place, and when I did, I knew that he was mad at his tenant, and they were having trouble. And he told me he was going to have it out with the tenant."

"And supposing he had a paper bag with him somewhere in his hypodermics, sleep-inducing drugs and he said, 'Now, here we are. Let's go in. I'm going to have preparing for use on emergency trouble with this fellow.' And he calls.

brought an uppercut from his knees. Mechem reeled back on his heels, tottered, and Bokker hit him again. Mechem crashed to the floor on his back, rolled over and struggled to get to his knees.

Bokker made his great mistake then. He waited or his opponent to rise and a blow struck the back of his head and knocked him sprawling on top of Mechem. Both men struggled to clear themselves and Mechem made it to his feet first.

As Bokker got up, Mechem's fist smashed him down again. He got up a second time and Mechem's boot kicked him a savage blow on the forehead. Bokker went out.

He lay sprawled on his back, struggling for consciousness. Grayson called for a tall glass of cold beer and when the bartender gave it to him, stooped and dumped it over Bokker's face. It washed away blood and revived Bokker. He continued to lie on the floor, however.

Lige Thomas said, "I told you not to start trouble." He stooped, grabbed a handful of Bokker's coat front, yanked him up to his feet and held him until he could recover. He said, then, "The Kansas City stage leaves in an hour. Be on it."

Bokker could not fight Mechem. Grayson, Lige Thomas and a half-dozen other former guerrillas who were probably in the bar of the Raytown Hotel. He walked, a bit unsteadily, out of the place, through the lobby and up to the second floor. He struck a match, found his room and lit a second match. Bill Grayson's sister had moved the candlestick to the floor near the window, but he found it with the third match.

He closed the door of his room, located his valise, also near the window, and went through it. The girl had rummaged in it, but its contents were intact. He examined the Navy gun, found that the loads had not been tampered with and put it back in the valise.

There was a light in the express and stage office and Bokker found the agent preparing some parcels to be shipped out on the stage.

For a dollar, Bokker bought a ticket to Kansas City, Kan., and waited inside the station until the stagecoach arrived. There was one passenger aboard the stage, a middle-aged drummer, who was dozing fitfully in the seat facing forward.

The lights of Raytown receded as the stagecoach bounced along a rutted road on the last lap of its journey to Kansas City.

A mile out of Raytown the speed of the coach decreased for a moment as it took a sharp turn. Bokker opened the door and stepped out into darkness, gripping his valise tightly in both hands. He hit the ground, made a violent somersault and landed on a patch of sweet-smelling clover.

The driver of the coach was apparently heedless of the loss of a passenger.

Bokker picked himself up. In the darkness he opened his valise and took out his Navy gun. He thrust it under the waistband of his trousers and looked back toward the dim lights of Raytown. As nearly as he could estimate it was around midnight.

The moon was three-quarters full, but somewhat obscured by lazy clouds. Yet the night was light enough to distinguish shadows and Bokker set out across a field.

He climbed a pole fence, walked through a meadow in which the lush grass was almost to his knees. Then he cut across a shallow ravine and emerged in a stubbled wheat field.

A half hour of patient trudging over a couple of fields and through a patch of brush brought him out upon a well-traveled road.

After a few minutes he saw a cluster of large shadows on the right and knew that he was approaching the home of Bill Grayson.

Then, suddenly, Bokker heard a sound on the road behind him, the clomp-clomp of horses' hoofs. In a panic he leaped to the cover of a bush at the side of the road.

The horses came closer. As did voices.

"... I don't know, I've thought about it until my head's been ready to burst and can't remember. There were too many other things to think about at the time. Just keeping alive."

"I know," said the second voice. "None of us knew how it would come out. I, for one, never figured I'd live this long."

"We were all crazy," said the first voice, "and the worst one of all was Charley Quantrell. Because he had some old scores to pay, we did things that still cause me to have bad dreams."

That was Bill Grayson. The other voice, which Bokker had not heard before, said, "It could have been Charley who doctored up the picture. He was a schoolteacher, you know."

"He couldn't draw," replied Grayson. "I don't know about that. Bloody Bill, but it wasn't his way. He went right into a thing, settled it with the gun or knife. That's why he and George were able to win out."

That was as much as Bokker heard. The horses were past him, and a dog at the house ahead suddenly began barking.

President Tells

talks than parading. A series of bomb explosions early today in Buenos Aires was taken as an indication of efforts by Peronistas or other dissidents to embarrass the government of President Arturo Frondizi at the time of Eisenhower's visit.

The sun broke through the overcast skies just as Eisenhower arrived. The temperature hovered around 80.

He was greeted by an orderly crowd of 5,000, including President Arturo Frondizi, who was his guest in Washington a year ago. The press editorially hailed the visit as a historical occasion which would result in closer links between the two nations.

Eisenhower said he greeted the Argentines with genuine pleasure and satisfaction.

"I am especially happy that my visit occurs during the 150th anniversary of your nation's valiant fight for freedom."

"I bring all of you the heartfelt good wishes of the government and the people of the United States, and I thank you earnestly for the cordial reception you have just accorded me and my associates. In the few days we shall be here among you, we hope to meet many of you personally, to enjoy the grandeur of your well-known capital, to visit several other of your beautiful cities, and, at least from the air, to obtain a panoramic perspective of your vast and noble country."

"Muchas gracias, mis amigos." The pattern of Eisenhower's first hours were differed from that in the three other countries on his South American itinerary. A helicopter ride to downtown Buenos Aires was arranged instead of the airport-to-town parades set up in Rio de Janeiro, Santiago and Montevideo. One reason is that the Buenos Aires airport is more than an hour by car from the downtown district. Another possible reason is security, since the route would have carried the U. S. President through an area where followers of ex-President Juan D. Peron might be inclined to demonstrate.

The moment that Eisenhower stepped out of the crowd door of the Boeing 707, the crowd, watching from an observation platform that partially circles the field in front of the Administration Building, started yelling and clapping. Eisenhower looked in their direction and grinned broadly. A 21-gun salute echoed across the broad runway.

Most Argentines were less enthusiastic over the President's visit than the carnival-minded Brazilians, who were hosts on the first stage of Eisenhower's 10-day Latin American tour aimed at bolstering the U. S. position in key countries.

Four bomb explosions rocked downtown Buenos Aires shortly after midnight, creating a last-minute tenseness in the atmosphere of the capital. One of the bombs damaged the stock exchange building only four blocks from the government headquarters.

Police believed the bombs were set off by diehard followers of ex-dictator Juan Peron, who never misses a chance to embarrass President Arturo Frondizi's government.

Police took extreme precautions, however, to prevent any outbreak of incidents during the President's stay. Eisenhower's route also bypassed industrial sections known as Peronist strongholds.

Leaders of almost all sectors of Argentine society expressed pleasure at Eisenhower's visit and support for his good-neighbor gesture. Even Peronistas and Communists issued statements welcoming the President "with the courtesy owed to a foreign chief of state." The Communists promised to behave politely "if Eisenhower comes with the Camp David spirit."

Eisenhower's program in Argentina was sharply different from that in Brazil, where parades and public appearances gave him little time for private conversations with President Juscelino Kubitschek.

The U. S. President set aside only one day for Buenos Aires, a drive through its streets and an address to Congress.

He will pay a brief visit Saturday morning to Mar del Plata, Argentina's fashionable seaside resort, and then will spend a quiet weekend with President Frondizi at Bariloche, a mountain lake resort reminiscent of the Camp David setting for Eisenhower's talks last fall with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

While economics were expected to play a large part in Frondizi's talks with Eisenhower, the Argentine government was also hopeful that the visit would demonstrate its willingness to line up along with the Western democracies in opposition to designs on Latin America.

The windup of Eisenhower's three-day festive Brazilian visit was saddened by the death of 20 U. S. Navy musicians and 41 others in the collision of a Navy plane and a Brazilian airliner over Rio de Janeiro bay Thursday.

The musicians were to have played at the farewell dinner Eisenhower gave in honor of Kubitschek Thursday night. The dinner was held, but a reception afterward was canceled. The two Presidents visited the only three survivors in a hospital. Eisenhower covered.

Legal End, Over Eleven Diamonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Kansas woman apparently has come to a dead end in a legal controversy over 11 diamond rings she says she bought for $44,000 at Hot Springs seven years ago.

Circuit Judge Guy Amsler yesterday dismissed the second of two lawsuits brought by Mrs. Tom Moore of Hays, Kans., in an effort to recover the rings.

This suit was against Sam Levine, Little Rock pawnbroker. Mrs. Moore contended Edward Harnik of Edwards Art Gallery at Hot Springs had turned the rings over to Levine.

Levine testified he received 11 rings from Harnik but didn't know whether they were the same rings. He said he paid only $17,000 for them.

Levine didn't say whether he had sold the rings or still had them and he wasn't required to produce them in court.

Amsler said Mrs. Moore had failed to prove the rings were the same ones and he also upheld Levine's contention that recovery was barred by the statute of limitations.

Mrs. Moore and her husband, who has since died, previously had sued Harnik in federal court at Hot Springs.

They contended they brought the rings from Harnik on Dec. 15, 1952 for $44,000 but left them with him for resale.

They said Harnik refused to give up the rings.

The Moores were awarded a $43,000 judgment against Harnik on April 18, 1956.

Seven days later Harnik filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition, and the Moores filed a claim on his assets.

Porkers Trying to Rate .500 in SWC Play

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Tall, talented Texas tonight takes its Southwest Conference title bid against the dangerous Arkansas Razorbacks in John Barnhill Field House.

Texas has a 9-2 league record on the line against Arkansas' 6-5. The Longhorns are tied with Southern Methodist for the Southwest lead.

The contest will be a rubber match. Arkansas beat Texas in the pre-season tournament at Houston. Texas tripped the Porkers in their first regular season meeting at Austin.

The Razorbacks can assure a .500 season, both in the league and overall, by beating the Steers. Arkansas is 11-10 for the year.

Arkansas' freshman team will play Fort Smith Junior College in a preliminary.

Oaklawn to Hold Races as Usual Today

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Oaklawn Park horse racing—knocked out by the weather yesterday—resumes today with a forecast of clear skies.

Today's program is the one scheduled yesterday before officials cancelled the card because of dangerous conditions on roads leading to the track.

Mrs. T. M. Daniels' Atomic Jet carries top weight of 122 pounds in a field of eight in the $3,500 feature. Dan Logan's Duke of Boxer and C. J. Wade's Chelly are other top horses entered.

Oaklawn will not extend its season to make up for the lost day. That would mean running the meeting, scheduled to close Saturday, March 26, over into another week.

Instead, an extra race will be added on some days on which only eight are scheduled until the eighth missed races are made up. Oaklawn traditionally runs nine races on Wednesdays and Saturdays, eight on other days.

Soviet Coach Kisses U. S. Team Player

By PATRICK MCNULTY
Associated Press Sports Writer
SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—"Imagine me getting kissed by the Russian coach," said Jack Riley, whose U. S. hockey team zoned to the top of the Olympic hockey tournament by upsetting Canada 2-1.

Russian Coach Anatoli Taranov of the once-fated, second-place Soviets hugged and kissed Riley in the bedlam that followed the Americans' stunning conquest of the high-powered Canadians Thursday in the Winter Games hockey tourney.

Riley, whose Yanks now hold undisputed first place, promised that the Soviet affection won't be reciprocated on the ice Saturday when the United States plays with Russia in the game that may decide the gold medal.

"We won't let down against the Russians," said the 39-year-old ex-Dartmouth star who coaches at Army.

Riley has made no secret that he wants his lads to be the first American Olympic team to beat the Russians in hockey. But few experts gave him much of a chance until the Americans' fiercely fought victory over the favored Canadians.

A pair of Minnesota—goalie Jack McCartan and winger Paul Johnson—and Boston's Bob Cleary were stars of the upset.

McCartan, making seemingly impossible saves look routine, stopped 39 shots by the savage-shooting Canadians.

Cleary and Johnson hit for the two American goals, while a standing-room-only crowd in 8,500-seat Blyth Arena went wild.

The defeat dropped Canada to third place in the tournament.

U.S. Hockey Team in Upset Win Over Canada

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Uncle Sam's nieces and nephews went prospecting for gold medals today with time running short in the 1960 Winter Olympic Games and Carol Heiss this nation's only winner to date.

The surprising U.S. hockey team that upset favored Canada 2-1 to grab the lead in the round-robin competition got the day off.

The Soviet Union, with six gold medals and 137 unofficial points credited, was expected to pick up more in both the women's 15 kilometer (9.3 miles) relay and the men's 1,500 meter speed skating. The United States had its biggest chances in the other two events.

Penny Piton, with two silver medals, took her final shot at a gold one in the women's slalom ski race already virtually assured of winning the world combined title of the International Ski Federation (FIS).

The pony-tailed blonde from Gilford, N.H., leads the U.S. girls' team that so far hasn't come up leading to the track.

Mrs. T. M. Daniels' Atomic Jet carries top weight of 122 pounds in a field of eight in the $3,500 feature. Dan Logan's Duke of Boxer and C. J. Wade's Chelly are other top horses entered.

Oaklawn will not extend its season to make up for the lost day. That would mean running the meeting, scheduled to close Saturday, March 26, over into another week.

Instead, an extra race will be added on some days on which only eight are scheduled until the eighth missed races are made up. Oaklawn traditionally runs nine races on Wednesdays and Saturdays, eight on other days.

2 New York Teams to Get Tourney Bids

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York basketball which has been streaking mostly toward oblivion since the 1950 scandal has come up with a couple of late-season dandies just in time for the NCAA and National Invitation Tournaments.

That would be St. Johns, Joe Lapchick's underdog champ of the NIT a year ago, and New York University, building toward those old-time Violets dynasties under new coach Lou Rossini.

The Johnnies ran their winning streak to 11 and their record to 17-3 Thursday night with an 80-63 win over Manhattan. The victory clinched a Madison Square Garden doubleheader and followed NYU's fifth straight victory and 10th in 19 starts, 70-70 over Temple.

While the Redmen and Violets were at it, North Carolina moved within one game of a first place tie in the Atlantic Coast Conference. West Virginia opened defense of its Southern Conference tournament title, and Utah and Utah State remained tied in the important Skyline Conference race.

North Carolina spilled Virginia to its 14th straight loss 97-50.

West Virginia, champ of the Southern the last five years, began its tournament doings at Richmond with a 90-63 victory over VMI as All-America Jerry West scored 29 points and Willie Akers 21.

Fifth-ranked Utah, running as winning streak to 10, whipped Brigham Young 87-75 and eighth-ranked Utah State thumped Montana 89-63 in their Skyline duel.

Cleary and Johnson hit for the two American goals, while a standing-room-only crowd in 8,500-seat Blyth Arena went wild.

The defeat dropped Canada to third place in the tournament.

Anderson Plans to Keep Double Role

DETROIT (AP)—Edwin J. Anderson will continue in his dual role as president and general manager of the Detroit Football Co.

But the Lions' have a new treasurer and two new directors. D. Lyle Fife, himself a former president and a critic of Anderson's management, resigned as both a director and as treasurer Thursday.

William Downey, W. O. (Spike) Briggs Jr., and Arthur Hoffman were re-elected vice presidents.

After Fife's resignation, Lions' stockholders elected Lee Lippman, former Detroit sporting goods store operator, and C. Ray Davidson, an electrical contractor, as directors.

Anderson then was re-elected to his dual, $40,000-a-year job and John Stevenson, a retired chemical manufacturer at 45, named treasurer.

Machen, Hunter Do Battle Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Hunter, the sweet swinger from Detroit, is an 11-10 favorite to defeat Eddie Machen, one-time top ranked challenger, in their 10-round heavyweight bout tonight in Madison Square Garden.

Although Machen is ranked No. 5 and Hunter No. 7 in the latest National Boxing Assn. ratings, the odds-makers apparently are being swayed by the fighters' most recent efforts. Hunter is unbeaten in his last four starts while Machen, from Redding, Calif., dropped a 12-round decision to Zora Folley Jan. 18, his last time out.

The bout will be broadcast and telecast via NBC starting at 10 p.m. Scoring will be by rounds with a supplementary points system in use to help break draws.

Olympic Games Are a Success

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—California's nearly completed Winter Olympic Games were proclaimed a great success Thursday by Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee.

Nearly all nations represented here "have come to me and said they were not only happy but enthusiastic about the Squaw Valley games. It's almost unanimous," the Chicago business executive said in an interview.

"The fact that these games have been a great success will be a strong argument for continuing the winter Olympics," Brundage predicted.

Proposals to discontinue the Winter Games after they are held at Innsbruck Austria, in 1964, will be debated by the IOC during the summer Olympics in Rome this year.

Bobkittens Are Ousted in State Tourney Play

The Hope Bobkittens had one blinding quarter yesterday but it wasn't enough and they were ousted by Benton 30 to 24 in the state tournament at Newport yesterday afternoon. Apparently the younger Bobkittens were showing the affects of an all night train ride.

Even so, the Hope lads were actually beaten at the free throw line, cashing in on only 4 for 10 while Benton made 10 of 18. Field goals were all even at 10 each.

A bad first quarter saw the big Benton boys roll to a 7 to 1 lead, but Hope almost upset things with 90 per cent shooting in the second quarter. In that round, Hope netted more points than it did in the other three quarters, 13 to 4, leaving the halftime score 14 to 11 in Hope's favor.

Benton regained control in the third period and held Hope to only three points in the final period for the victory.

For Hope, Jones was high man with 9, Murphy made 8, Porterfield 3, Purtle and McLarty had 2 each.

Women's Tourney in Florida Delayed

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A bob-tailed version of the Tampa Women's Open Golf Championship gets underway today for 135 entries who got soaking wet in a futile effort to start the tournament on time.

Officials decided to disregard Thursday's play after an afternoon rainstorm pelted the Palma Ceia course.

The first round was reset for today, cutting the $7,500 event from 72 holes to 54. Officials gave the 35 professional entries and 100 amateurs the same starting times as Thursday. And the weatherman promised sunny skies and cooler temperatures for the remainder of the tournament.

Glad When Over

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—During the hectic third period of the United States' stunning 2-1 upset of Canada in Olympic Hockey Thursday American Coach Jack Riley's brother said nervously chewing a paper matchbook. After the final horn, Billy Riley said: "I'm glad it isn't four periods like football. I'm outta matches."

Judges Take Look at Prescott

Four groups of Judges Monday looked over 13 of the 40 Arkansas cities and towns which are finalists in the 10th annual City of Tomorrow contest.

In the Prescott project Judge Merle Peterson of Dumas, was impressed that Dr. Charles Avery a young doctor from Prescott, had returned to his home town to practice medicine.

"That's the kind of thing we need to do," he told a group that outlined Prescott's 1959 accomplishments. "We need to ask ourselves if we're doing all we can to see that graduates come back to our town."

Billy Roe, manager of the Prescott C of C, Mrs. Elizabeth Hays, Mrs. J. R. Bernis, Rev. Alfred DeBlack and Mayor Bert Wingfield were among those who presented Prescott's case.

Prescott improvements include tearing down the old Prescott Jr. high school, acquiring the land it was on and getting it ready to serve as a park and renovating a building for a recreation center.

Prescott residents also sponsored an all night party after the Junior-Senior banquet and prom. These parties started in 1952, have gained national recognition. Last years prom included a floor show, dancing and at dawn a breakfast and church services.

Prescott annexed 210 acres last November, along State Highway 24 and installed new water mains to the area. The city hall was redecorated, 19 blocks of streets were resurfaced, new dial phones were installed, the hospital was improved and a new one-mile library tax was approved along with a new library.

The Arkansas Pine & Lumber Company put in a new $25,000 saw mill, the Oak Lumber Company invested $1,500,000 in expansion. A new doctor's clinic and a radio station was built.

Rich Gifts for Ike
RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek and his wife presented rich gifts Wednesday night to President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

They gave the visiting President a 17th century silver candleabra. Eisenhower said it was of such value he would donate it to a museum.

Mrs. Sara Kubitschek handed the President a gold pendant set with a Brazilian aquamarine an inch wide and three inches long for Mamie Eisenhower. The U. S. President smilingly said he would telephone his wife to tell her about it.

Knoxville, Tenn., was named in 1791 for Gen. Henry Knox, then U. S. Secretary of War.
